Why ILS

Power your business to new heights

Only ILS can put your business in touch with thousands of potential customers and vendors at a second's notice. Only ILS can automate your supply chain processes to help propel your business farther and faster than it has ever gone. ILS has field offices around the world to help your business ply new waters of opportunity around the globe.

From straight-up searches to automated services — when it's time to run full speed ahead, it's time for ILS.

MARINE

ILS provides unequalled market access and the most advanced automated services to help marine companies achieve higher efficiency, productivity and profitability.

BUY

Enhance your purchasing power by accessing millions of marine listings and making smarter purchasing decisions. With ILS, you can easily locate spares and equipment, including hard-to-find and obsolete parts, manage your search results to sort vendors by location or keep preferred vendors at the top of the list, locate reliable repair resources, and pick up deals at our online auctions. Plus, you can generate RFQs with ease, automate monitoring of “for sale and trade” message broadcasts, and swiftly communicate specific requests or emergency situations to sellers around the globe.

SELL

Increase company sales by identifying and targeting serious, motivated marine buyers, and improving inventory planning and processing. With ILSmart, you can manage your listings to display only to specific regions or types of buyers, find open government solicitations that match your inventory and capabilities, keep your listings up-to-the-minute accurate, and move more inventory with online auctions. Plus, you can use targeted banner ads to promote your business to ILS subscribers or add certifications to your company profile and update your inventory to rank higher in search results.

We are Marine Industry Specialists

Buyers — ship owners, operators, management companies, charterers, and builders — let ILS help you reduce downtime, increase readiness, identify primary and alternative sources, locate obsolete and hard-to-find parts, simplify your procurement workflow, and turn variable costs into fixed costs.

Suppliers — OEMs, licensees, re-manufacturers, distributors, and ship deconstructors — ILS can help you increase your exposure in the defense industry as well as the marine market, customize your exposure to suit your business, simplify your procurement workflow, and turn variable costs into fixed costs.

All ILS services are subscription-based.

We never take a percentage of, or commission on, any sales transaction.
