Experience the lift generated by the largest, most active and data-driven online marketplace for aviation parts, equipment, and surplus inventory in the world: ILS.

Why ILS

Power your business to new heights

ILS can put your business in touch with thousands of potential customers and vendors at a second's notice. We put the market intelligence you need — including decades worth of U.S. government logistics data — in your hands when you need it. ILS can automate your supply chain processes to power your business to new heights. Only ILS has field offices worldwide to help create high-flying opportunities for your business around the globe.

AVIATION

ILS provides unequaled market access, unmatched data and analysis, and the most advanced automated services to help aviation companies achieve higher efficiency, productivity and profitability.

Buy

Enhance your purchasing power by accessing millions of aircraft and aviation listings and making smarter purchasing decisions. With ILS, you can cross-reference part numbers automatically, generate RFQs with ease, monitor “for sale and trade” message broadcasts from other subscribers to jump on new buying opportunities, locate reliable repair resources, and pick up deals at our online aviation auctions.

Sell

Increase company sales by identifying and targeting serious, motivated buyers, and improving inventory planning and processing. With ILSmart, you can automate RFQ processing, jump on AOG and “wanted” message broadcasts, keep your listings up-to-the-minute accurate, and move more inventory with online auctions. Plus, you can use targeted banner ads to promote your business to ILS subscribers, and add certifications to your company profile to rank higher in search results.

Repair

Expand your Maintenance/Repair/Overhaul (MRO) business by uncovering new opportunities along with the tools and parts needed on the job. We'll help you target MRO buyers with online ads reaching ILS subscribers, purchase aviation parts efficiently, reduce turn-around time, and market your exchange pools.

Analyze

Gain market insight and make more informed decisions by accessing comprehensive information and powerful analytical tools. ILS provides the market intelligence and custom reports you need to accurately value aircraft inventory, track activity and pricing trends, create sustainment cost estimates, and determine supply and demand for specific parts, including aftermarket offerings from specific manufacturers.

Automate

Connect your aviation business worldwide by integrating your systems and website with the ILS marketplace. Our automated web services help eliminate manual processes and decrease entry errors, and speed up part searches, RFQ reviews, and inventory updates. You can even post your parts catalog on ILSmart and make it accessible from your website.

100+ countries
35+ years of U.S. government procurement data
85,000,000+ line items of available inventory
24/7 customer service phone support

All ILS services are fee-based.

We never take a percentage of any sales transaction.

Take Advantage of Our Defense Industry Expertise

Cross-reference manufacturer part numbers against NSNs and APLs. Access vital government data including FLIS, CAGE, procurement history, and Army, Navy and Air Force files. Find and respond to open government solicitations that match your company's ILSmart listings.
